

GRAVES OF DEAD IN FRANCE GIVEN HONOR BY LEGION

Authorities and People Unite in Ceremonies—Herrick and
Gen. Harbord Speak.

PARIS, May 30 (Associated Press).—The 40,000 American war dead buried in France were visited by groups of their comrades to-day, the fourth Memorial Day since the war ceased.

The bodies of 24,000 have been taken home, and most of those remaining have been gathered in six permanent American war cemeteries, but some remain in scattered spots where first buried, left in accordance with their families' wishes.

To visit cemeteries and lone graves alike comrades of the American Legion and representatives of the French people to-day took flowers. Where possible, the ceremonies were participated in by men who knew the fallen heroes, or who served in the units to which they were attached.

French troops, French veterans and school children attended the principal services and many smaller ones; the Government was represented at almost all. The Americans, in turn, made a pilgrimage to the tomb of the unknown pilot at the Arc de Triomphe, where the American Ambassador, Myron T. Herrick, delivered an address.

At Suresnes, near Paris, Ambassador Herrick, Major Gen. James G. Harbord, American Deputy Chief of Staff, and Marshal Joffre took part in what was the principal ceremony of the day.

Major Gen. Harbord, who commanded the 2d Division during the war, also went to Chateau-Thierry, where he spoke as the representative of the army, and the American naval attaché in Paris, Capt. Frank B. Upham, for the navy. Prominent Americans took part in the other services.

TOSS COINS ON FLAG LIKE WAR TIMES, UNTIL STOPPED

Brooklyn Thought It Another
Invitation to Contribute and Did It.

An American flag carried horizontally in to-day's parade in Brooklyn appeared to some to be a reminder of the "drives" and one thing and another of war time and the Brooklynites responded thoughtlessly by tossing coins. The flag was the one carried at Santiago in '98 by the U. S. S. Brooklyn.

One man in the reviewing stand, Senior Vice Commander Francis J. Rao, of George C. Strong Post, G. A. R., made immediate loud and emphatic protest. "Stop this desecration," he demanded, standing within a few feet of the Mayor. "Stop it! It's an outrage! I thought this sort of thing was to be barred. I'll bring it up again."

The veteran turned to the crowd, pleading with them: "Don't throw coins into our flag! Don't desecrate Old Glory!" The coin throwing stopped.

GIVES $50,000 TO HOBART.

GENEVA, N. Y., May 30.—Fred Morgan Kirby of Wilkes-Barre yesterday subscribed $50,000 to the Hobart College centennial fund. Mr. Kirby has never seen Hobart, but was impressed with the statement of its record of 100 years and its plans for the future as sent out by the Centennial Fund Committee.

Mr. Kirby retired recently after a successful career as proprietor of a chain of five and ten-cent stores, finally merging with the Woolworth Company, of which he is Vice President. The fund has reached $750,000.

BRIG. GEN. MITCHELL HURT.

Horse Slips Attempting Fence and Throws Him.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 30.—Brig. Gen. William Mitchell of the Government Aviation Service fell from a horse late Sunday and was injured. It became known to-day. The horse slipped and fell in attempting a barbed wire fence, throwing the rider with considerable force to the ground. No bones were broken.

WEDS. GETS JOB, KILLS SELF.

SCHENECTADY, May 30.—Frank Zalski, boilermaker, who was married Sunday, plunged off the New York Central Railroad bridge yesterday into the Mohawk River, 150 feet below. Zalski, idle for months, was to return to his old job to-day.

BROOKWOOD PLOT DEDICATED TO U. S. DEAD IN ENGLAND

Brigadier-General Biddle Delivers Eulogy at National Cemetery.

LONDON, May 30 (Associated Press).—Great Britain joined with the United States to-day in honoring the American soldier dead. At Brookwood this morning, where a plot in which rest 450 American soldiers and sailors was solemnly dedicated as a national cemetery for the American dead, Brookwood is twenty-eight miles from London.

Around the American dead are their companions in arms, Canadians, Australians and Newfoundlanders. Most of the Americans died in English hospitals from wounds received in France.

The services were read by Chaplain H. S. Smith, U. S. A. The British Army, Government and local authorities were represented. Brig. Gen. John Biddle, commander of American forces in England during the war, delivered an eulogy. Col. Oscar N. Solbert, military attaché at the United States Embassy, represented the army; Francis E. Powell, the American colony, and Lieut. Donald A. Smith of Michigan, the London post of the American Legion.

At Plymouth wreaths were placed on behalf of the legion in the church and graveyard of Princetown, in memory of the 250 Americans who died as prisoners of war in Dartmouth Prison, 1812-14; also at the foot of the memorial window presented to the church by the Daughters of 1812.

FIGHT FOR FREE SPEECH.

Samuel Untermyer to Help Lawyer Hayes in Mine District.

Samuel Untermyer will work with Attorney Arthur Garfield Hayes in contesting the repressive measures adopted by coal operators in the Western Pennsylvania strike district, the American Civil Liberties Union has announced.

Mr. Untermyer will appear in any case involving the principle of free speech and freedom of assembly. It is said. His first work may be prosecution of the Vintondale, Pa., mine guards and Justice of the Peace who Saturday arrested and fined Mr. Hayes when he attempted to deliver a speech. Mr. Hayes yesterday went to Lock Haven, Pa., to prepare injunction papers and other proceedings as a result of the incident. He was held for a short time in jail and then fined $5, which was remitted when Mr. Hayes demanded a hearing and refused to pay.

HE IS 69; SHE, 38; WILL WED.

President Atwood of Insurance
Concern to Marry Miss Martin.

Kimball C. Atwood, President of the Preferred Accident Insurance Company of No. 80 Maiden Lane, who gave his age as sixty-nine and his residence No. 316 West 108th Street, obtained a license yesterday at the Municipal Building to marry Miss Constance A. Martin, thirty-eight, of No. 111 West 126th Street. They will be married at the Grace Emanuel Church Thursday.

Miss Martin lives in the home of Mrs. Burke at the above address. Neither would discuss the romance last night.

FARMERS' VOTES UPSET G.O.P. PLANS IN TARIFF BATTLE

Schedules on Cyanide and Manganese Changed on Floor in Spite of Protests.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The conference of Republican Senators called for to-morrow is facing several serious problems, among them the attitude of the farm bloc towards the McCumber tariff bill, which was twice changed yesterday by their votes.

The farm bloc's first assault was launched with the support of the Democratic heavy artillery on the cyanide rate. When it was all over it was found the farm bloc, with the single exception of its leader, Senator Gooding, the entire Democratic membership and several scattered Republicans had turned on the committee and put cyanide back on the free list by a vote of 45 to 14. The committee proposed a 10 per cent. ad valorem duty.

Senator Sterling (Rep., S. D.), declaring the gold mining and citrus fruit industries needed free cyanide to protect them, asserted a single concern, the Roessler-Hasslach Chemical Company, controls production here and in addition controls imports from Germany and England. This had been conceded in the preliminary debate several weeks ago, when charges were made that the company was German-owned and a heavy contributor to Republican campaign funds. Both charges were denied by Senator Frelinghuysen (Rep., N. J.).

Then came the vote on cyanide and while the Old Guard was rallying its forces dazedly the farm bloc charged again, this time practically alone. The House rate on manganese was lowered by Mr. McCumber's committee from $10 a ton to $6.25.

The farm bloc wants the House rate and with the aid of only four Democrats and one or two Eastern Senators they got it by a vote of 29 to 22.

In the general excitement the committee was driven to withdraw the 25 per cent. ad valorem duty on brick as a result of the agitation started by Samuel Untermyer's protest that such a duty would retard housing construction. Instead of the rate it was suggested that a provision be inserted that any country taking American brick be retaliated upon, but this proposal went over.

To-morrow the dye schedules will come up and at least a week's storm is scheduled to break around the heads of the majority leaders.

HEROIC FIREMAN TELLS OF SAVING WOMAN IN RIVER

Lynch Yelled to Engineer to "Hold Train a Minute"
While He Made Rescue.

The unnamed hero who dived into the Hudson River Sunday night, saved the life of an elderly woman who had fallen into the icy waters and then dashed back to his train before the police could get his name, is E. J. Lynch, a World War veteran with two enlistments in the United States Navy on his record. He lives at No. 26 Williams Street, White Plains.

He admitted his identity and his heroic feat to-day. "I was firing a fast freight of the Harlem Division. We had stopped for a moment at 79th Street off Riverside Drive when a wild-looking man ran up to me and asked if I could swim. He was so excited that many precious seconds passed before I realized what he wanted."

Lynch did not take time to get permission to leave the train. He yelled to William Mahar, the engineer, to "hold her for a minute," and started for the end of the pier, pulling off his coat as he ran.

Mrs. Mary Radl, sixty-nine, No. 257 East 26th Street, had been walking on the Drive. Hundreds of persons were watching the river when a splash, a scream and yells from bystanders near the pier drew their attention. No one had attempted to offer any assistance until Lynch appeared.

"When I got to the end of the pier," Lynch continued, "Mrs. Radl's head had started down. She had been in the water, according to the bystanders, more than four minutes. She grasped my arm and if it had not been for my experience in the navy she would have taken me to the bottom."

"I easily broke her grip around my neck and, pinning her arms to her sides, I swam to the pier. I began immediately to resuscitate her, so when the ambulance arrived she already was breathing. It was at this point that I saw my services were needed no longer, so I dashed off to my train."

Mrs. Radl, who suffered little from submersion, was taken to Knickerbocker Hospital by Dr. Pierce and later was placed under observation as to her mental state.

TIES UP SIELCKEN ESTATE.

Surrogate Foley approved the accounting of the Columbia Trust Company yesterday, as executor of the estate of

Herman Sielcken, millionaire coffee merchant, but directed the executor to retain all the present assets of the estate and to refrain from distributing any of them "until further order of the court."

Tying up part of the estate is due to the fact that claims for approximately $1,100,000 are pending. The executor's accounting shows that Mr. Sielcken's widow, who was married to Carl Schwartz, an opera singer, a few months ago, has received $1,649,425 from the estate. The $2,290,433 the executor has on hand will also eventually go to her as residuary legatee, or what remains after the payment of claims.

BOTTOMLEY STILL M. P. TILL APPEAL IS HEARD

LONDON, May 30.—Horatio Bottomley, former publisher of John Bull, sentenced yesterday to seven years' penal servitude, upon conviction of misappropriating funds of the Victory Bond Club, will probably retain his seat in the House of Commons until after his appeal is heard, at least a month distant.

Expulsion of a member is rare, the last being in 1892. The convicted person is summoned to hear the reading of the motion for his expulsion, and is allowed to speak before the motion is put to vote. Mr. Bottomley is the member for South Hackney.

DRUG RAIDERS ARREST THREE MEN, TWO WOMEN

Alleged Seller of Narcotics and Four Patrons Locked Up.
Detectives Quigley and Farrell of the Narcotic Squad arrested three men and two women last night and took them to headquarters. They gave the names: Thomas O'Connor, twenty-one, a plumber, of No. 123 East 108th Street; Raymond Dawlton, forty-two, a nurse, of No. 2814 Broadway; John McCormick, forty-eight, a clerk, of No. 207 West 109th Street; his wife, Mrs. Emma McCormick, forty-four, and Eva Mac, forty, of No. 121 West 41st Street. O'Connor is charged with selling narcotics, the other four being among his alleged customers.

Anatomik Shoes

For women who are much on their feet

As good-looking as they are comfortable

A woman recently wrote us:

"I am a school teacher and on my feet a great deal of the time. So I must have comfortable as well as good-looking shoes."

She had been wearing ANATOMIKS and was writing back for another pair.

Her testimony is but one among hundreds.

The ANATOMIK Shoe is constructed scientifically to follow the natural lines of the foot.

Not only is it comfort-giving but it has attractive lines and an up-to-date appearance. The smart woman need not be ashamed to wear it.

High black kidskin, with medium or broad toe, $15.

Black kidskin oxfords, $14.

Brown kidskin oxfords, $16.

Black kidskin two-strap pumps, $16.

Dr. Cole, inventor of the shoe, can be consulted here from 4:30 to 5:30 Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week.

Most Royal of Gifts for the Shut-in—Blind—Aged
A Radio Receiving Outfit!

This is the boon conferred by the modern magic of science, which eclipses all the fairy-tale wonders that charmed our childhood, and scatters joys that the most kindly-disposed of fairy godmothers never dreamed of bestowing.

Into the darkness of the blind, into the seclusion of the invalid's room, or the lonely life of one who is isolated in any way, it can bring the hum of the busy world, the interest of fine entertainments, the uplift and solace of splendid music.

Send them a radio receiving outfit, and they can listen in, at almost any hour of the day or night, on the grand concert, on the public orator's ringing speech, on the latest news dispatches, on time signals by which clock or watch can be set, and, in fact, on all of the many things which go to make up the modern broadcasting program of the great stations.

In the Radio Section, Seventh Gallery, are receiving sets all ready for installation or parts for those who wish to make their own outfit.

Radio experts will offer advice or suggestions on anything connected with the work.
